ONE WITH NATURE

The continuous quest to find genuine organic oils with low pesticide content while being sustainable enabled us to launch Ultra Organics. The growing demand for organic pure and natural essential oils from food, aromatherapy, cosmetics and F&F companies cannot be ignored.

From the inception of Ultra Organics, our sourcing strategy is based upon three key pillars:

Low Pesticide

Every organic sample we receive is sent to Eurofins

Traceability

We are in direct contact with producers all over the world

Sustainability

We only buy pure and natural organic essential oils that are sustainable

Essentially, organic oils are produced from plants or herbs that are grown using organic principles. With a conscience to protect the environment, keep toxic chemicals at bay, and retain the quality of soil, we present the Ultra Organic oils. With an eye on long-term sustainability, these oils are produced by reducing the usage of synthetic practices.

Definitions and common terms to guide you through the land of all pure and organic naturals.

OIL GRADE EXPLAINER

- O These oils receive certification from an independent third party. Only approved methods of cultivation, harvest, and extraction are undertaken. Organically grown plants are used to extract these oils without any pesticides in play.
- K An independent third party validates the requirements and restrictions to provide approval that there is no trace of non Kosher substances in the process and the final product.
- H An independent third party validates the requirements and restrictions to provide approval that there is no trace of non Halal substances in the process and the final product.
- PG Extracted exclusively by physical means, this is a 100% pure and natural extract. Without any extraction aids, additives, or residual solvents, a single botanical species serves as the source for Pure Grade Oil.
- FG An FG certification is considered safe for human consumption. Food Grade Oils receive certification from food regulatory authorities.
- CG Natural or synthetic components are used as additives in Commercial Grade Oil. The addition or removal of components is determined according to standardised specifications.
